Middle School Intervention Program

Meeting Forms and Related Resources
Foreword

This booklet contains the meeting forms and related resources used by the Syracuse (NY) City Schools Support for At-Risk Students (STARS) Project.

The following people served on the team that authored or provided feedback about these resources (listed in alphabetical order): Emily Bajish, Jay Coates, Jessica DeLing, Joanne Downes, Laura Foody, Sue Grosso, John Guba, Sheila Johnson, Dave Lochner, Christine Miller, Stephanie Pelcher, Jessica Tousley.

In addition to those listed above, contributors to previous STARS forms and resources have included: Carol Carpenter, Beth Croll-MacKenzie, Kathleen Dertinger, Judy Garlow, Tricia Hamlin, Katie Keough, Deb Pasho, Sally Strough.

Those wishing for more information about the STARS Project should contact:

Schools should initially expect to have 6-8 staff members commit to weekly involvement in the STARS program.

These members should be a mixture of staff including general education teachers, special educators, related services staff, support personnel, etc.

Having the involvement of teachers across grade areas, as well as involvement of area specialists is a good idea.

Establish a clear team process and meeting procedures.

Publicize your team and the services it offers to your faculty, staff members, and parents.

Inventory the many resources that your building has which could be used by your STARS Team.

Practice STARS team roles and meeting procedures at least twice in actual meetings before scheduling your first teacher referral.

See “Checklist for Getting Started” for further explanation.
Who should refer?
Any teacher, group of teachers/team or staff member with an appropriate concern about a student should refer the student to STARS.

Which students should be referred?
Any regular or special education student who demonstrates a behavior or skill deficit that interferes with the student’s academic progress may be referred.

What concerns are appropriate for referral?
Concerns referred to STARS should be ones that can be addressed during the school day. In general, the behaviors and skills that are best addressed through STARS are focused and specific. Such concerns might include:

- Attendance/Tardiness
- Homework/classwork completion
- Specific academic concerns or skill deficit (i.e. learning long division)
- Classroom behavior that interferes with the student’s learning
Where do intervention teams fit?
Strategies for motivating reluctant teachers and promoting the STARS program in your building.

(Information taken from www.interventioncentral.org)

- Regularly distribute intervention tips in teacher mailboxes. You may want to attach a cover note inviting teachers to refer student to the intervention team.

- Sponsor teacher workshops on common academic or behavioral concerns. During workshops have referral forms on hand and invite teachers to refer students to the intervention team.

- Compile a list of your buildings resources that may be offered to a struggling teacher. (E.g., a physical education teacher may offer to give high energy extra gym time)

- Invite a ‘reluctant teacher’ to provide ‘moral support’ to a colleague by accompanying him or her to an intervention meeting.

- Organize a team-sponsored monthly school contest, in which teachers and other school staff are invited to submit academic or behavior interventions tips. Publicize the winners’ names and distribute the list of tips on intervention-team letterhead. Later invite winners to join the team or refer a student to the team.

- Ask a referring teacher who had a good experience with your intervention team if they would be willing to encourage a colleague to refer a student to the team.

- Use administrative support to your team’s benefit. Have higher-level building or district administrators make supportive comments about you team at faculty meetings or workshops.

Steps to Pre-Screening Meeting

Syracuse (NY) City Schools
Support Team for At Risk Students (STARS) Consultative Process

The Pre-Screening Team

The following steps may be taken during a Pre-Screening Meeting in an effort to prepare for, and save time during, the initial meeting

Step 1: Review the referral – Is it complete?
  Was the parent notified of the referral?
  Assign a case liaison
  Start a STARS file or folder for the student

Step 2: Review the teachers concerns
  Decide if the concerns are specific enough
  Decide if the referral is appropriate for the STARS Program
  If more information is needed, decide WHO will collect the appropriate information?
  Review the cum folder as a team
  Record data on the cum folder review sheet

Step 3: Decide what baseline data needs to be collected
  WHO will collect the data?
  WHEN will the data be collected
  Review the cum folder and record the data on the cum folder review form

Step 4: Decide if there are any other people that the team would like to invite to the meeting (e.g. building reading or math specialist, other teachers on the team, guidance counselor, social worker)

Step 5: Determine WHO will contact the parent or guardian to notify them the initial meeting date and update the contact information (e.g. phone number, address)

Step 6: Begin to research interventions related to the specific concerns of the teacher

STARS Middle School Team Forms Syracuse (NY) Schools 18 of 30
Welcome to this initial Support Team for At Risk Students meeting. We are meeting with you today to discuss concerns that you have about a student, _______________. The purpose of this meeting is for us all to work together to come up with practical ideas to help this student to be more successful in school. I am the facilitator for today’s meeting. The person taking notes during the meeting will be ________________. The case liaison for this meeting is ____________________. The time keeper is _______________________.

You can expect this meeting to last about ____ minutes.

By the time you leave, we should have a complete student intervention plan put together to help address your concerns. Our team and you have a lot to do today and only limited time in which to do it. To help us to work efficiently and not waste your time, we will follow a structured problem-solving model that goes through several stages. Together, our team and you will:

• Assess your major concerns about the student
• Help you to pick the one or two most important student concerns for us to work on today
• Set specific student goals for improvement
• Design an intervention plan with strategies to help that student improve, and decide how to share information about this plan with the student’s parent(s)

As the student’s teacher, you are the most important participant in this meeting. Please let us know at any time if you disagree with, or have questions about, our suggestions.

Our meeting will not be a success unless you feel that the intervention ideas that we offer will address the student’s difficulties and are feasible for you to do.

Our meeting notes will document the student’s referral concerns and the intervention plan that we come up with. These notes may be shared with others who are not here today, including child’s parent(s) and the building administrator.

However, we ask that everyone here keep the conversations that take place at this meeting confidential.

Do you have any questions?
Review Teacher Concerns: 5 minutes

Team Invitation Letter

Syracuse (NY) City Schools
We would like to take this opportunity to invite you to become a member of the 2006-2007 (Your School) STARS Team. Some of you are veteran members and others will be new to the group; we look forward to working with all of you.

The Support Team for At Risk Students (STARS) is a problem-solving model for the middle school level that was developed during the 2004-06 school years with the support of the New York State Education Department Special Education Quality Assurance Inclusion Implementation Grant.

The STARS team will meet weekly to share suggestions and create intervention plans for referred students. If you would like to accept this invitation to become a member of our team, please detach the bottom portion of this memo and give it to _______________ by (date).

Thank You!
